The Scientist

He is...

The philosopher of present who thinks about future

A tireless traveler travels to reveal the secrets of the nature

His hands...

Reaches to hug beyond the horizon

Tries to reach even the other side of the endless sky

His looks...

Penetrate through the deep oceans

And breaks through the invisible nucleus of an atom

His foot...

Thought to spread over nautical miles just within a short period

It shrinks to a nanometer and travels as fast as light

His heart...

While vibrates rhythmically on violin strings one side

The other side explores the wonders of virus

Leading to discover the biodiversity

His soul...

Wondering with you and me at the same time

It creates the novelty in relationship

He is an ideal servant of nature since ancient ages

And inspires of all the time

Sacrifice the life for the welfare of the human kind

Through his inventions and discoveries

Enlightens the lives through science

His is nothing but...

The Kepler... The Jenner... The Raman...
